Description: R2-HA, a pink-and-blue tiered-dome astromech, served in the Resistance's astromech pool. He joined BB-8's Operation Upside on Megalox station.

Biography

Journey to Megalox space station

R2-HA, a tiered-domed astromech, served with the Resistance headquarter's droid pool on the planet D'Qar. In 32 ABY during the Cold War, he joined Black Squadron's mission to free Grakkus the Hutt from prison. After docking at the corporate-owned station, the pilots traveled planet-side. At Poe Dameron's command, BB-8, the squadron's droid leader, mobilized to deactivate the prison's gravity shield.

Operation Upside

R2-HA and R4 accessed a terminal. BB-8 spotted guards, so the droids hid using their boosters. Because R4 fell after a malfunction, O-R10N incapacitated the guards.

The astromechs infiltrated the generator room on Deck Twelve and sliced the controls, when a security droid interrupted them. BB-8 and O-R10N attacked while R2-HA and R4 worked. The massive droid crushed O-R10N, but BB-8 disabled it, keeping their slicers in control. Black Squadron rescued Grakkus, regrouped, and departed aboard their X-wings. When First Order Agent Terex's ship attacked the station, they drove the Carrion Spike away. With information from the now-freed Grakkus, Black Squadron returned to D'Qar.

Personality and traits

The talkative R2-HA featured rocket boosters, a Scomp link, a black sensor, and pink-and-blue detailing. His programming included slicing protocols and advanced enemy starfighter tracking.
