Description: The Arwed freighter is of a similar age to the YT1300 series of ships, and has now been discontinued from production. Where the YT1300 was an easily modified ship, that could end up as a really souped up vessel, the Arwed was cheap. That was the ships only selling point, not speed, not looks, but price, and as such it sold in the thousands. These are often found used, and will common compete on price with landspeeders rather than other starships.
