

Droids D6 / Temere Corporation Serpen

Temere Corporation Serpent Obliterator

Temere Corp's Serpent Obliterator got themn in a lot of trouble for being open about selling them to whoever had the cash.

The Empire nearly shut the corporation down but for some mysterious reason it never happened and Temere Corp continued with it's buisness. The Serpent Obliterator is a very long/tall serpantile droid with advanced targeting and sensor equipment. It's body is segmened with lgiht armour while the head has a single yellow bar where eyes would be. Around the head on each cardinal direction is a metal plated hvoering out around it a bit when it's active. This head array absorbs enegy attacks against the droid's head and feeds it back into the ablative shields around the droid's body.

The ablative

shields overtop the armour make it a hard droid to destroy, and would make an unwary opponent shoot at the head thus recharging the ablative shields. All and all it is a evry dangerous opponent to have to face, especialy with it's blasters which when firelinked can chew through a speeder.
