

Equipment D20 / EX-17 Ecstasy Grenade

EX-17 Ecstasy Grenade

The EX-17 grenade was developed simultaneously with the convulsion grenade and for the same purpose, crowd control. Rather than attacking the muscular system, this one attacks the brain and nervous system. Specifically it attacks the pleasure centers, or rather stimulates them heavily. It causes the user to feel great amounts of pleasure or even outright ecstasy, hence the grenade's nickname. Though the effects are odd to see it is a very humane way of breaking up a riot and some of the softer hearts in the galaxy prefer them to convulsion or tear gas grenades.
