Description: Twylope Nur was a Mohsenian male who served the Resistance as a field medic. He used his ability to smell illness and injury, alongside his natural resistance and defenses, to diagnose his patients and quickly deliver appropriate treatment. He was part of the Resistance group that set up base on the moon Ajan Kloss and was present when the YT-1300 light freighter known as the Millennium Falcon returned ablaze from a mission to Sinta Glacier Colony.

Twylope Nur was a Mohsenian male who served the Resistance as a field medic during their war against the First Order. He was part of the core Resistance group that set up base on the jungle moon of Ajan Kloss under the command of General Leia Organa.

In 35 ABY, he was present in the base when the YT-1300 light freighter known as the Millennium Falcon returned from a mission to the Sinta Glacier Colony. The starship was heavily damaged and on fire, and Nur was amongst the Resistance personnel who rushed forward to aid in putting out the flames and helping the crew. While the others were tending to the fire, Nur was knelt down in front of the vessel attending to something on the ground.

Personality and traits
Nur was an amiable individual and was well suited to his role as a medic due to the fact he could smell illness, injury and the bodies natural defenses fighting against them using the sensitive olfactory receptors that lined his long snout. This allowed him to diagnose patients quickly and accurately then administer appropriate treatments. He had large black eyes, white fur and cream skin.

Equipment
Nur wore a brown tunic over a white shirt and a brown belt.
