Characters D6 / Stek Renu (Human)

Stek Renu

Stek Renu was born into a family of smugglers, but never cared to learn the ropes of the family trade. In fact, he always hated space travel and avoided it when possible. As soon as he was old enough to take care of himself, he ran away and left his family behind.

He made a meager living working the streets, moving in and out of gangs, and making credits by racing swoops. He had no real direction in his life and his low level skills with the Force were all that kept him alive at times.

At some point, Stek met a pirate by the name of Kel Sapur, who instantly recognized Stek for what he was - a Jedi. Kel nearly killed Stek, but thought better to tell him of the Jedi and perhaps bring him into his crew as a powerful asset. Kel told Stek what he knew of the Jedi, and even gave the young man a lightsaber which Kel had come across many years ago.

Stek fled Kel one evening, realizing that the man only wished to use him and his abilities to further his riches. There was nothing in it for Stek. Stek fled to Wereling, a polar ice colony in the Palvar Sector, where he met a woman who was a perfect match for him - Giara Fen.

Stek taught Giara what little he knew about the Force, she didn't seem to care much for him, but kept him around anyway. Stek was well aware that Giara did not care for him, but it did not bother him at all. He followed her around the sector for quite a while.

Stek soon became caught up in Giara's own personal conflicts and found himself a part of her plot to bring down her father, Aarlis Nacirem. Giara told him to eliminate some of local rogues which had minor ties to Nacirem and who could pose a serious threat to her overall plans.

Working with the occupying Imperial forces, Stek led a small group right into an Imperial ambush, which led to the capture of several of the rogues on his list. Nights later, and very confident of himself, he attempted to ambush another small group of these rogues at the local spaceport. However, this time the group included Sansuke Oni. Sansuke, with much skill, dropped Stek with a single quick drawed blast from a disruptor pistol.
