Special Abilities:

Rock-like shells: Noti have a rock like shell on their back which they can retract their bodies into for protection or concealment. When retracted into their shell, they gain +2D to resist all damage, unless they are turned over, of which there is 50% in an explosion. This also allows them to hide in rocky areas, giving them a bonus +2D to their sneak and hide in this environment.

Eyestalks: Noti eyes are located on the ends of short stalks, allowing them to peek out from their shells without exposing their bodies, and also giving them a good range of visual perception.

Story Factors:

Extragalactic: As a species from outside the galaxy, Noti are extremely rare and may not be knowledgable about technology or customs of the mainsteam galactic culture.

Description: "Little Noti" was the alias of a member of the Noti species that resided on Peridea alongside a nomadic village of their people. After the Jedi Padawan Ezra Bridger became stranded on Peridea, the Noti became acquainted with him, and acquired a pendant bearing the Rebel Alliance Starbird. Little Noti later encountered Mandalorian Sabine Wren during the search for Ezra and, after calming down from being discovered, showed her their pendant and led her to their village—and thus Bridger.
