Story Factors:

Miners: The Ootoo homeworld is rich with gemstones, and they have become known across the galaxy as miners. They are not actually more skilled or likely to become miners, but the fame of their homeworld's riches and the mines to extract these riches is the first thing that most species know about the Ootoo.

Superstitious: The Ootoo share many stories of monsters and dangerous creatures on their homeworld, and are told these from a young age, so believe these stories even if logically they know they cannot be true. This makes them superstitious and frightened of old tales which have been passed down for generations.
