

Weapons D6 / Verdant Technologies Re

VerdanTech Stun Repeater

The VerdantTech Repeating Stun Blaster was an attempt at marketing a good riot control weapon to law enforcement agencies. The weapon was designed so it could lay down a fire spread of stun blasts that would put down rioting civilians. The weapon however carried very few shot for a repeater, and though it had considerable stopping power in the form of its stun charges, it just was too expensive for the limited usefulness it possessed. The series was discontinued after a few months of production.
