

Starships D6 / Zaltin/Kuat Drive Yards B

Zaltin Bacta Hauler Mark II

Zaltin, one of the Chief Bacta Producing companies in the galaxy, needed a transport designed to specially haul the precious healing fluid safely. Their chief rival, Xucphra, had the same problem and went to the Corellian Engineering Corporation. Zaltin Instead went to Kuat Drive Yards for their tanker. The Mark II was a slightly Improved design, it's hull was reinforced and minimal shields were installed, after slightly enlarging the craft. Also two quad laser cannon turrets were added to fight off enemy fighters and extra room for security personnel was added to repel any boarders. This came after the Mark I's fell prey to raiding a lot.
