Kemorian Design's Amkardh Space Bus

Built by the Kemorian design Co., this Amkardh Space bus came out on the market 40 years before Yavin, so about 4 years after Senator Palpatine was elected as Supreme Chancellor.

It is a quite normal ship, tough and reliable, which needs only a few repairs to extend life duration considerably. It is the third model on this generation, and the first to be exported. It was bought by Pandoria-Center, the core planet of the Pandorian Confederation, located in the Colonies.

The Amkardh Space Bus is used to carry civilian passengers from planets to space (and orbital) stations to ships. It requires only one pilot and can carry up to 60 passengers at the time.
