

Starships D6 / Dylarian Drive Yards Slasher

Slasher Starfighter

The Slasher was primarily developed to be used as a superiority fighter at the Dylarian Drive Yards at Dylar IV. This competitive combat ship is a in-system fighter craft with ion cannon capability, making it excellent addition to capture operations. As yet, its lack of hyperdrives makes it one the New Republic has been slow to invest in, although numerous independent defense forces employ Slashers as heavy planetary defense fighters that can stop smuggling by disabling their ships.
