Background: Doctor Emerie Karr was a human female clone created from the genetic template of the Mandalorian bounty hunter Jango Fett. She worked as a scientist with Doctor Royce Hemlock on Mount Tantiss.

Following Lieutenant Nolan's death at the hands of CT-9904 "Crosshair," Karr supervised the clone's medical treatment. When the enhanced female clone Omega was captured and brought to Mount Tantiss by Hemlock, Karr informed her that Crosshair was still alive and recuperating along with the other rogue clones. Omega was distrustful towards her until Karr revealed that she was her sister.

Personality and traits

Emerie Karr was a human female with long brown hair which she kept in a ponytail and tan skin. A diligent worker, Karr had compassion for the clone prisoners, although she believed that resisting the Empire was futile.
