Description: The Gargoyle is a standard Sith transport ship, which although large and unweildy has a good cargo capacity and is relatively tough. The Gargoyle uses dated technology and could be massively improved by any competent technician, but since updating cargo ships is not a priority for the conquest oriented Sith. Because of the long range of this vessel, and its large cargo and personel carrying capability, some Sith have taken to using it as a personal transport, although it is not luxurious enough for most high ranking Sith, lower ranking Sith who cannot comandeer their own Sith Dreadnaughts are quite satisfied using these ships.
