Description: After the death of Emperor Palpatine a number of Sith Lords appeared attempting to resurrect the ways of the Dark Side, one of the more secretive and lesser known was Darth Oz. Although he subjugated no worlds, he did manage to gain a great deal of influence with the movers and shakers of the Imperial Remnants, and to gain a great deal of knowledge. He trained multiple apprentices, pitting them against one another in an attempt to find the most powerful. It was for one of his apprentices, Lord Rive, that Darth Oz had Sienar commission a long ranged starfighter so that Rive could move freely about the galaxy. The starfighter was based upon the TIE series of fighters, but its combat ability suffered slightly due to the extended range requirements of the Sith Lord. It is unknown what happened to both Darth Oz and the Sith Infiltrator after both Lord Rive and his opponent Darth Blight suffered fatal wounds in a battle on Korriban ordered by Darth Oz.
