

Itaan

Itaan is a Palvar Defense Force member world located near the Celmoore star system (which is known to house at least one major pirate outpost that has yet to be eliminated). Itaan is a pleasant world now, although it was once plagued with violence and corruption until several key PDF military strikes against local rebel and terrorist outposts eliminated the majority of the threat (this military operation remains the largest in the history of the PDF to date).

Itaan provides more than half of all the medical supplies and foodstuffs used by the PDF's military forces. The local Itaanu, a insect-like race, make up all of the work force on the planet while human PDF officers and troops keep the order.

Itaan is a sprawling world with vast amounts of untouched wilderness with seemingly endless amounts of valuable minerals and resources to offer. There are several rumors that Kashan Systems (acting separate of the PDF) is attempting to contract strip-mining rights on one of the smaller continents which still remains untouched by any sentient. Due to the Itaanu's submissive manner, Kashan Systems will most likely succeed in getting their contract.
