

Name: Cloverfield Parasite

Type: Predatory Creature

Dexterity: 4D

Perception: 3D+2

Strength: 3D

Special Abilities

Teeth: Str+2D Damage.

Claws: Str+1D Damage

Agile: Cloverfield Parasites are agile creatures, capable of great leaps and they possess spiderlike climbing abilities, and gain +2D to all Climbing/Jumping skill rolls.

Venom: Cloverfield Parasites carry a powerful venom which increases the victims blood pressure to aid them in feeding, which can cause explosive rupturing of the victims body if left untreated. A victim bitten by a Cloverfield Parasite who suffers a wound or greater in damage, must make a Difficult Strength roll to resist the poison. If they failed this roll, then their blood pressure will increase until they suffer an explosive rupturing of their body in 20 minutes minus the amount they failed the roll by. During this time they can seek medical aid, which in the Star Wars universe is far more advanced, and the venom can be counteracted on a Difficult First Aid roll.

Move: 14

Size: 1m Tall, 1.5m Long

Description: Cloverfield parasites are vicious, crab-like pests which cling to the cloverfield monster by the thousands, which it is born with and grow with the creature. They clean away the debris of its meals as well as sucking its blood. Their saliva causes intense raising of blood pressure to help them feed, which though mostly harmless to their host, causes smaller creatures to literally burst.

A cloverfield parasite weighs some fifty pounds and stands 2 feet high, though are lengthy in proportion.

A cloverfield parasite is bold in it's attack, leaping forward and biting repeatedly until their prey bursts.

Page designed in Notepad, Logo`s done in Personal Paint on the Commodore Amiga

All text stolen from a D&D version of the creatures, stats by FreddyB, HTML and logos done by FreddyB

Images stolen from an unknown website at some remote time in the past.

Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.