Hablandito

One of the races created by the ancient and mysterious Alpha Race.
It is believed that, The Alpha Race existed somewhere around 8,000 years before Emporer Palpatine's rise to power. They were masters of genetic engineering and biological sciences. Rather than using droids to perform tasks, they designed organisms and even sentient beings to perform the tasks needed. The Alpha Race engineered several known races then bred them together to get new races and seeded them across the galaxy to spawn hybrids and new races in an exponential propogation.
The Alpha Race dissapeared without a trace from the galaxy.

The Hablandito were evolved from other members of the Alpha Race's creations. Jacrona and other races were bred together and their offspring given various genetic therapies and chemical infusions until portions of their brains were turned basicly into language analyzing computers. They can break down any language with relative ease and become fluent in it. The brains were then tanken and grafted into a more appealing frame than the original Hablandito body, instead human subjects, primatives from the planet Lorrd, and their nervous system was altered to match with the brain. These new Hablanditos were allowed to propgate within a clsoed enviroment for a while to stabilize they're new form and were then seeded throughout the galaxy.
