Description: Although Aargau Custom Speeders tended to build unique creations for their customers, they did have a few stock models for customers who didn't wish to spend as long choosing their speeder. The Greyshade was one of these, designed originally to the exacting specifications of Senator Simon Greyshade, this speeder was designed to resemble the Pod Racers that the Senator so loved to watch. The Speeder is very fast, although suffers from poor manueverablity, this probably due to the engines, which were originally designed to be used in groups of 50 on the bank courier trucks also built on Aargau. But this didnt harm sales one bit, the speed combined with the state of the art sound system and hyper accurate anti-theft tracking device, made it a hit, both on the Senators homeworld, and across the galaxy. Aargau Custom Speeders made almost 10 thousand of this model, an insignificant amount compared to most speeder manufacturers, but the largest amount they ever made of a single model. This accounts for the high used price of this make of speeder, and the rare occasions on which they are seen in use.
