Description: The Dhutt is a neanderthal version of the Hutt species, capable of using simple weapons and tools they are aggressive and dangerous creatures. It is unknown the origin planet of the Hutts or Dhutts or how these primitive creatures spread to a few dozen worlds across Hutt space, but some believe that the Hutts may have rescued the species but given the Hutt's reputation it is unknown why they may have rescued such a species. Dhutts are dangerous creatures which take great pleasure in hunting and eating any creature they can lay their hands on, and although they may be qualified as sentient no scientists have managed to test them, they have no language skills that have been observed but do manage to educate their children to the extent of their technology.
