Description: The G-Wing Personal Transport is an early design by Czerka, designed to allow high profile and rich individuals to travel the galaxy during the turmoil of the Mandalorian and Sith Wars. As well as allowing the transport of rich individuals, the G-Wing ended up being used by some of the Bounty Hunters of the time, its powerful weapons and reasonably spacious cargo hold for a vessel not much larger than a starfighter, allowed them to modify the base design with great efficiency. The most famous use of this design was by the Jedi Balista Shan during her brief conversion and service under Darth Malak, she used the vessel on a few short missions for the Dark Lord of the Sith. G-Wing's are older vessels, but still perfectly servicable and a small minority of those built remain in service in the Imperial Era.
