*: A Light Axe although allowing the user to hit harder, is also more cumbersome than a Lightsaber and effectively reduces the users skill by 1D.

Description: Of all of the Jedi weapons created over the centuries, the Light Axe is one of the few created purely for maximising damage. Few Jedi have bothered to learn this weapon, as they see it as brutal and primitive, but the ease of which it can be built, and the large amount of damage it does, has made it popular with those who have rejected the Jedi way and are possibly less skilled. The power with which the blade of a Light Axe can carve through anything in its way has made the weapon feared by non-Jedi, but Jedi themselves knowing that the weapon is clumsy compared to their Lightsabers find little to fear when facing a Light Axe.
