Description: The Naboo Arms Light Blaster Pistol was originally designed as a self defence weapon for Naboo citizens entering the wilder untamed areas of their planet.

However, its long range and good accuracy led to its adoption by security forces as a sidearm for ceremonial troops, and the weapons stylish design and chromed exterior led to good sales off world as well. Naboo Arms also made more powerful weapons, but none of these sold as well as the light blaster pistol which continued production until well into the Imperial Era when firearms restrictions forced Naboo Arms out of production and their later incorporation into the SoroSuub corporation. The Naboo Light Blaster Pistol has a good reputation for reliability, and its styling has led to no depreciation in its price at all, making even second and models sell for the same price they originally did.
