* : The Pricon Rifle fires a mixture of accelerated particles and blaster energy at its target, this means it takes effect against the targets lower armour rating, Physical or Energy.

Description: As armour has improved, it has become more important to choose the right weapon to defeat your opponents armour, a reason why the Wookiee bowcaster has become so popular by affecting both physical and energy, helping the weapon to overcome the targets armour. It was with this in mind that Galactech designed the Pricon Combo Rifle, firing a combination Particle Beam / Blaster Bolt at the target. While this was an innovative solution to the problem, most user found that simply buying a more powerful blaster rifle solved it far more efficiently, so the Pricon has sold poorly, without being adopted by anybody more than a few isolated individuals.
