Description: Similar to the Heavy Commando Armour, this is a heavier powered set used exclusively by the Mandalorian Super Commandoes who specialise in assaulting enemy positions and working behind enemy lines. With many similar features including sensors and weapons, the Super Commando armour has more powerful muscular enhancement and advanced stealth systems which help the wearer avoid detection. These suits are not available to anyone outside of the Mandalorian Super Commando corp's, and are rarely seen in operations as the Mandalorian government would like to keep the technology and capability of these suits as secret as possible.
