Description: The Bajic Blaster pistol was designed and built for the security forces on the planet Devi, a heavy blaster pistol with integral aiming aid abilities. The weapon produced was rugged, used a trickle charge through the laser emitter to create a laser sight effect (+1D to skill), and provided everything the original design request had asked for and more. The only problem with the design was a shorter range than most Heavy Blaster Pistols, however this wasn't really considered to be a disadvantage for the Devi Security forces because they used Blaster Rifles for longer distance shots. The design was considered so good, that it has become quite popular even for a backwater world produced blaster weapon, and sales have allowed DeviAng Industries to start off world production facilities to meet demand, as well as becoming Devi's largest employer.
