Description: This transport vessel was a custom design built for the Sith who had risen under the rule of Darth Revan and Malak, the fallen Jedi. Armed heavily these transports were trusted with carrying important supplies for the Sith war effort, such as Kolto. Some of these ships were converted into troop transporters, but mainly they served as personal transports of the various Sith Masters or as simple cargo vessels, providing a higher speed and better protected vessel than the standard Czerka transport vessels used by the Sith.
