Description: The Facileto is a Pre-Empire design which has been revived in the modern day, a small inexpensive fighter which is more than a match for a TIE fighter and has had limited success with non allied governments who wish to remain totally independant. The Facileto is weak and slow compared to more modern designs, but its low price makes its purchase easy to justify for poor worlds, and the fact that two Faciletos can be purchased for the price of many newer fighters makes this ship a winner with accounting department purchasing committee's.
