Description: BlasTech attempting to appeal to the large market opened up by the Rebel Alliances change into the New Republic, released the Republic-1, named specifically to highlight SoroSuubs involvement with the Empire when they created the Stormtrooper-1. A heavy assault blaster, designed to fill the gap between ordinary blaster rifles and light repeating blasters, the Republic-1 has a longer range than either, and hits almost as hard. The weapon has an integrated Laser Sight (+1 to skill), which has proven to be a big selling point, helping New Republic Forces who do not have all of visual enhancements that Stormtrooper armour gives to Imperial Troops. However not only has the Republic-1 sold well with New Republic Forces, but also Imperial Forces, who use the same weapon under the name of the "Imperial-1 Blaster Rifle".
