Description: This Repeating Blaster was designed by Blastech under direct Imperial supervision, to serve as the weapon for the new Storm Elite. When complete it satisfied the Imperial supervisors so much that the entire design team was thrown into a detention camp to stop them creating a similar weapon for someone else. The Storm Elite 1, is an easily carried repeating blaster marginally heavier than the Light Repeating Blaster used by the Empire. It is designed to fire bursts of fire, and counters modifiers for a second shot at a target (but not shots beyond that), because it fires so fast. The StormElite 1 also has a laser sight built in which gives the user a +1D bonus to their blaster skill.
