Creatures D6 / Blue-finned Crayfish (Aquatic

Name: Blue-finned Crayfish
Classification: Crustacean
Skin color: Orange and blue
Distinctions: Hydrodynamic body
Point of origin: Koboh
Habitat: Water

Dexterity: 3D
Perception: 1D
Strength: 1D

Special Abilities

Claws: Blue-finned Crayfish have claws they can use to defend themselves, doing Str+1D in damage).

Slippery Body: Blue-finned Crayfish have hydrodynamic bodies which make them fast underwater and difficult to grasp, giving them a bonus +1D to avoid being hit or grabbed.

Move: 7 (Swimming), 4 (Walking)

Description: The blue-finned crayfish was a species of crustacean endemic to the Outer Rim planet Koboh. The species was particularly elusive. At one point, priorite prospectors thought to capture the rare creature to sell at a high price. Their failures made many declare the species a myth. However, the blue-finned crayfish simply evaded capture by clinging to the underside of rocks and disguising itself by flowing with the water. If spotted, the creature still evaded capture due to its hydrodynamic body, which allowed it to be extremely slippery, and its sharp claws.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.