

Equipment D20 / Hardcorps Armor

Hardcorps Armor

A heavy plastoid shell armor, the Hardcorps is one of the best you can get outside a powersuit. Though it causes some encumbrance it makes up for it with a strong shell and reflective coating. The helmet is designed just like that of the Softshell, with a single horizontal visor strip for the eyepeice with a thin white prertrusion running the length of it just above to shade it. The rest of the armor is smooth and a very dark blue that blends into the night. A substance known as reflec is coated on it to protect it from passive sensors in the area.
