Description: Granda was a Force-sensitive Theelin female who served as a Jedi Knight during the Clone Wars and survived Order 66 and lived well into the New Republic Era. Within a village on Lahtee, Supreme Leader Kylo Ren seemingly came into conflict with Granda during the First Order-Resistance War. Upon defeating her, however, her body vanished and the whole village around Ren transformed into an abandoned husk of itself, much to Ren's confusion and rage.

Biography

Purged

Once a Knight of the Jedi Order, Granda fought in the Clone Wars. During her time in the Order, Granda was always fascinated by the mind trick, though felt that other Jedi dismissed the technique as undignified. As the war neared its end, Granda was stationed alongside a unit of the Galactic Republic's clone troopers and the Rodian Jedi Alivar, who studied the Separatists' front lines, discovering a weakness to exploit. As the fatigued Granda retrieved tea from a dispenser, the clones executed Order 66, a directive to eliminate the Jedi en masse. When confronted, Granda used a mind trick to make two soldiers believe that she had disguised herself as one of them, turning them against each other.

Granda received a message from the Jedi temple on the planet Coruscant sent by Obi-Wan Kenobi that advised the remaining Jedi not to return and to trust in the Force. Without further instruction and possibly the last Jedi, Granda reached out to the Force, which instructed her to survive. Knowing that the Order's destruction was being met with celebration and the Jedi themselves put to death, Granda destroyed her lightsaber, buried her Jedi robes, and abandoned the Jedi way. Granda attempted to hide but was aware of the continued danger, as Sheev Palpatine's new Galactic Empire instituted bounties on any remaining Jedi. Refusing to become a hermit, Granda continued to improve her mastery of the mind trick. Practicing on a Mon Calamari bartender, a transport pilot, and a merchant, among others, she sought out species with a natural resistance to the ability, including Toydarians and Hutts, learning to overcome the strongest of wills.

The Emperor's Inquisition

At the command of Darth Vader, Grandea was pursued by two Imperial Inquisitors, the Ninth and Thirteenth Sisters. Grandea fled, losing her right leg to the Thirteenth Sister. As the Ninth Sister stabbed Grandea with her lightsaber, she used a mind trick to convince the Inquisitors that they had indeed killed their prey, the strain of the feat nearly doing so. Grandea crawled away, tearful, and suffered a nosebleed from the intensity of her earlier effort. Her mind trick successful, the Inquisitors reported Grandea's death to Vader, raising only a momentary suspicion.

Relic of a bygone era

On Lahtee, Grandea was confronted by Kylo Ren. When Ren finally lashed out and struck down the Force user, she somehow continued speaking to him with glowing purple eyes, revealing to him that Jedi Master Luke Skywalker was already dead—having sensed his demise—and pondering why Ren had not sensed his death. Seemingly rising into the air, the speaking corpse taunted Ren by asking who he really was, to which Ren again lashed out to strike her down and stop her taunting. However, her body entirely disappeared with the strike, and the entire village around them suddenly transformed from its lively self to a decrepit ruin. The event confused and enraged Ren.

Personality and traits

A Theelin, Grandea had a fascination with the Jedi mind trick and a fondness for tea.

Powers and abilities

Over years of practice, Grandea achieved mastery of the Jedi mind trick. She could read surface-level thoughts, though she could not rip information from one's mind, something she claimed was impossible. Grandea was able to identify a blade produced by a cracked kyber crystal at a glance and sensed the death of the powerful Jedi Luke Skywalker.

Equipment

As a Jedi, Grandea wore Jedi robes and used a lightsaber powered by a green kyber crystal. Following the Emperor's purge, she destroyed her lightsaber and burned her robes. At that time, Grandea also adopted a cloak.
