VerdanTech PD-3 Personal Defense Blaster

The PD-3 isn't really an icnredibly special blaster, but it is stylish. It is the heavy armament of the well to do and is somewhat a status symbol. It is a disntugished sign of wealth among those who care of such things. The weapon is made in different varieties, each variety having the pistol-grip form fitted for a different type of hand, allowing many races of the galaxy to use them comfortably. The weapon is plated with polished silver and resembles a firearm mroe than a blaster with it's rectangular casing. Three laser sights sit at the end of the broad casing arrayed around the barrel creating a small triangle of red dots around where the shot should land. This does not really help anymore than one alser sight but it looks more stylish. Underneath the casing a small spot luma is atatched providing a fairly pwoerful soruce of illumination straight ahead for up to fifty meters. The weapon is often seen among buisnessmen and aristocrats who are constantly having their lvies threatened, or are just paranoid.
