Titan Technologies Fury A-18 LE Scoped Blaster Rifle

The A-18 is one of the scoped models in the Limited Edition "Fury Series" by Titan Technologies. After Titan constructed about 1,000 of these models, they were found to not sell. Some of the main reasons for this were because of its extreme rarity, and its high cost. Considered illegal in some sectors because of its super weapon characteristics, the A-18 is dangerous to even handle. Mainly used by the Empire during its peak, the cost kept even the Empire from handling more than 100 of these weapons, most were placed in the hands of Imperial Storm Commandos. Furys are no longer mass produced.
