Game Notes: The DU-90 is a one of a kind rifle, literally. There is only one made by Devastor Lakanddra. The only backup of the blueprints is on a datadot implanted under his left arm under the skin. Also the gun gives a 75 volt charge through the outside frame of the rifle, and if Devastor selects it 6 titanium blades instantly retract from the handle after 5 seconds of being in someone else's hands. The gun's scope is custom made also, it has a F/E (friend/enemy) system in it witch locks onto targets and uplinks itself to all available databases and finds a match sending to the holo screen in the scope. If the person is "friendly" a green recticle "lights up" the target, if it is a "unfriendly" target it is "lit up" by a red recticle. If the target is neutral or unknown, it is "lit up" by a blue recticle. If the person has any crimes, prices, or any other information in the uplinked database it is displayed in the holo screen. Also the targets stats, (age, race, occupation, etc) are displayed on the screen. The guns bolt spectrum can modulated to any color spectrum, even spectrums invisible to humans. It has a cooling system and full silencer. The gun's different ammunitions dramatically differ and can be changed with a toggle switch.

Hornet- short range antipersonnel. This ammo is only effective under 10 meters but inflicts major damage. It also runs on compressed argon so it makes no noise except a low hiss. It shoots titanium fletcher spikes

Range: 10 meters

Damage: 6D within 5 meters, 4D from 6 to 10 meters

Spread: .3 meters spread per meter length

Shots in MBC: 20

Plasma shot. This ammo atomizes 3 ounces of Argon gas into Plasma inside of the ignition chamber, then expels it at high speed since it has little or no weight. It can travel long distances.

Range: 7-50/400/750

Damage: 8D NOTE: Because of plasma's natural high temperature. Plasma can naturally melt a hole through just about anything, even titanium like a vibroblade through Bantha butter. Thus giving it such a high damage rate.
