Belecuu OEN-SP "Nevermore"

The Belecuu Nevermore automatic pistol was originally designed to be fielded as a "sport" weapon for close-range target shooting. However, an automatic pistol is automatically labelled as illegal and it was never sold to its intended target groups. Instead it was marketed toward private military organizations who all rejected the weapon, calling it underpowered for its class, not at all living up to the demands of a military situation.

There are still several thousand of the weapons floating around on the black market (Belecuu made sure they ended up there at least) and they can be found with a bit of luck and determination.
