BlasTech SR-11 Rifle

While BlasTech definately has the market cornered on blasters, it has a very small foothold in the firearms department, mainly because of how obsolete most firearms are in the modern galaxy. Other companies, such as Merr-Sonn Munitions, has a handful of successful firearm models on the market.

BlasTech, seeing a chance to possibly corner the firearm market as well, introduced a slugthrower rifle based off of the E11 blaster rifle frame. In general appearance, the SR-11 resembles the E11 with all blaster components replaced with firearm components. Even the power clip was replaced with a standard ammunition clip.

The SR-11 has been marketed as a "hunting and sports rifle" to the general public since it serves no real purpose military uses.
