

Weapons D6 / Heraali RC-P90

Heraali RC-P90

The Heraali RC-P90 was an experimental compact assault weapon that was being developed just before the arrival of the Empire on the Heraali homeworld. Unfortunately for the Heraali, the weapon was taken off of the production lines by order of the local Imperial governor.

The RC-P90 is smaller than most assault weapons of its power and packs the punch and rapid-fire capabilities of a light repeating blaster. It features finely hand-crafted wood detailing along the stock with a specially molded handle for added comfort. The weapon has a large clip which is capable of holding eighty rounds of ammunitions (which tends to run out fast).
