

Equipment D20 / RanCorp Mark-6 Holo-

RanCorp Holo-Shroud

This device is a small semi-bulky device that can be clipped to a person's belt. It's about the size of a medpac and has a miniature computer and holographic projector as well as power cells. The preselected image covers and hides the wearer beneath it. These devices are useful for getting past security guards and cameras or many other applications.

RanCorp Mark-6 Holo-shroud

Mini-holographic display

Cost: 5,000

Power Cells: 20 minutes of continual use

Game Notes: The hologram is visually perfect and mimics the wearers every move though some advanced droids are able to detect a "flicker" in the hologram. The only sure way to uncover the holo-shroud trick is to perform a scan or else realize it when your hand passes right through the Hologram. Activation requires a Computer Use Skill check (DC 15).
