Equipment D20 / MetaCorp AAFT-1 Flamer

AFT-1 Flamer

The MetaCorp AAFT-1 Flamer is an older weapon, which shoots a single jet of flame like most other flamer throwers. This is commonly used to clear out bunkers or tanks rather than being used in open areas.
The Flamer itself is about the size of a Heavy Bolter, or Large submachine gun, and has a fuel cell canister connected between the trigger grip and the forward grip. It is obviously similar in make and design as the LRR-44
