

Weapons D6 / BlasTech RPG-3

Heavy Repeating Plasma Weapons Emplacement

BlasTech's RPG-3 (Repeating Plasma Gun) was based off of the widely popular E-Web design with aspects of their newer plasma weapons line in mind. In most respects, the RPG-3 appears to be an E-Web at first glance, however, closer examination will reveal that indeed, it is the RPG-3. Distinguishing features include a backup battery pack mounted under the main body of the weapon that can store up to five extra shots just in case something happens to the power generator, a targeting computer, motion detector, infra red scanner, and a self destruct charge.
