Starships D20 / TaggeCo. Tiercel Freighter

Tiercel Freighter

The TaggeCo. Tiercel freighter is a truly strange looking craft. A large, dart-shaped main hull encloses the compact cargo holds, with two large angular fins jutting up and out to each side, with smaller winglets pointed ground-ward to contain the landing gear. These four surfaces give the bulky freighter surprisingly good handling, particularly in atmosphere, if only TaggeCo. could have squeezed in some better engines. The freighter's considerable armament is due to its use by its parent company in the Corporate Sector, particularly along pirate-infested spaceways.
