Sulovani Mark-XX Attack Tank

The Sulovani are a race of sentient artificial beings from outside the galaxy. It is unknown who originally created them but they gained sentience and broke away and destroyed their masters. They created other sentient artificials, computers, machines, droids ect. They built an entire civilization with castes based on function, industrial labour, intellectual, military ect. They took over all the space that was controlled by their former masters and reshaped it. After they wiped out the last survivors of their creator race, they were not satisfied. They felt they were perfect and flesh and blood creatures were a plague on all the universe and had to be eliminated. They expanded outward, they expanded across one fourth of their galaxy but were stopped by what they called the Great Wall. This was a strange energy disrupting phenomenon that blocked any further travel through the galaxy on their part. So instead they expanded outside their galaxy. They conquered countless races and none stood a chance. That was until they met a race that was also conquering their own galaxy, Humans. These Human creatures were clever and incredibly dangerous violent beings bent on domination and destruction. They had incredible willpower and resisted the Sulovani by sheer force of will. The Sulovani retreated in defeat. They continued scouring the space outside the humans' galaxy until they met yet another conqueror race, the Ssi-ruuk. Ever since their first encounter the Ssi-ruuk and the Sulovani have been at war with one another. To try and break the deadlock, the Sulovani started a new line of powerful attack tanks with Sulovani sentience in them. The conflict between the Sulovani and the Ssi-ruuk blew over into the human galaxy causing it to be terrorized by both yet again.

The Mark-XX was the first in this new generation of Sulovani attack tanks. The Mark-XX is a behemoth measuring 18 meters long and 9 meters wide. It is equipped with twin 30cm Hellbore Cannons mounted and firelinked on a single rotating turret. Also 16 Heavy Unlimited Repeater Blasters run on small turrets along the side to deal with any enemy foot soldiers. The droid sentience driving the Mark-XX is superior to anything in the 'Human Galaxy' in terms of droid brains. It can manage almost all of its weapons firing at once, however the Hellbores usually cannot be fired while the repeaters are being fired. This has led to an exploitation by the Sulovani's enemies. When the repeaters stop firing they know it's about to fire the Hellbores.
