Description: The Paar's ichthyodont was a large saurian creature that lived on Panna Prime.

These creatures were large, had tan skin, red eyes, and a horn on the top of their head. They were often used as a way of travel on Panna, and were noted for their large appetite, satiated by a long and yellow prehensile tongue.

The greatest distinction between this species and the seemingly genetically related "Panna dragon" were their eyes. The ichthyodont had red eyes with large pupils positioned at the sides of their heads, while Panna dragons had white eyes with small pupils, and were positioned in the front of their head.

In 0 BBY, the notorious bounty hunter named Boba Fett used an ichthyodont to navigate the Mud Moon to find Luke Skywalker and gain his trust so Skywalker would bring him to the new Rebel Alliance's base on Darth Vader's orders.
