Description: Pulmonary resuscitation kits were a type of medical device that could be used to treat injured humans. After General Leia Organa was briefly sucked into the vacuum of space during an attack on the fleet of the Resistance by the First Order in the year 34 ABY, she was treated onboard the MC85 Star Cruiser Raddus with a pulmonary resuscitation kit. The kit consisted of two white-colored boxes with a breath mask attached. The left box had a knob on the front that could adjust the vital gas mixture ratio.
