Character Bio - Edrison Peavey was a human male officer who served in the naval forces of the First Order. Peavey had been an early founding member of the First Order after the collapse of the Galactic Empire, and thus personally knew Brendol Hux, the father of Armitage Hux. Because he was far too aware of how the younger Hux got his position as General through nepotism due to his father, the elder Hux, he held disrespect to his commanding officer, though he was smart enough to know to keep such thoughts to himself. Holding the rank of captain, he acted as the commanding officer of the Resurgent-class Star Destroyer Finalizer in the event that the normal commanding officer of the Finalizer, General Hux, was transferred to the Mega-class Star Dreadnought Supremacy, the flagship and headquarters for the First Order. Like fellow First Order captain Moden Canady, he had formerly served under the Empire prior to its fall, which also acted as another reason why he kept his more disrespectful views of Hux to himself due to appreciating the Empire's hierarchy.
