Droids D6 / E-XD infiltrator droid

Type: E-XD infiltrator droid
Dexterity: 2D
Blaster: 5D
Knowledge: 1D
Mechanical: 1D
Perception: 2D
Search: 4D, Sneak: 4D
Strength: 3D
Climbing/Jumping: 5D
Technical: 1D
Demolitions: 3D, Security 3D

Equipped with:
Built-in blasters (Range 2-20/40/100, Damage 5D)
Three visual and two auditory sensors - Infra Red Vision
Built-in proton warhead (Capital Scale 2D Self Destruct System)
Disguise as Protocol Droid (+1D to Con to pretend to be a cleaning droid)

Move: 9

Description: The E-XD infiltrator droid was a model of recon droid used by the Galactic Empire. EXD-9 was an Imperial infiltrator droid who infiltrated the Phoenix Cell's Chopper Base on Atollon.

E-XD infiltrator droids resembled protocol droids but were in fact specialized recon droids that were fitted with various integrated weapons including built-in blasters. When in protocol mode, their sensors were white. In attack mode, their sensors turned red and the droids were also capable of elevating their height. Infiltrator droids were capable of weathering extensive damage in combat, possessed considerable strength and could leap great heights. They were also capable of scanning various objects and lifeforms and identifying them. Infiltrator droids could also cannibalize other droids and drain their power. These droids were also programmed to pilot tactical infiltration pods and to operate transmitters. Breaking Imperial protocol, the droids were fitted with a proton warhead that would self-destruct if the unit was compromised.

During the Imperial Era, Grand Admiral Thrawn commissioned the creation of E-XD infiltrator droids to scour the Outer Rim Territories for rebel bases. In 2 BBY, the Empire dispatched many Infiltrator Droids in tactical infiltration pods to hunt for the Phoenix Cell's base. One of these units, EXD-9, discovered Chopper Base on the planet Atollon. After being attacked by krykna spiders, he was adopted by Garazeb Orrelios and AP-5, who believed that he would make a good inventory droid. However, Agent Kallus, who was a rebel operative called Fulcrum, alerted Zeb to the presence of the Imperial Infiltrator Droids. Following a struggle, Zeb, AP-5 and the astromech droid Chopper overpowered EXD-9 and reprogrammed him into a improvised bomb which destroyed an Imperial Star Destroyer and all the other infiltrator droids aboard.

After Mon Mothma's rebellious speech against Emperor Palpatine, E-XD units were spread across the system in tactical infiltration pods in an effort to locate her. One of these units was searching a destroyed Separatist warship, where members of the waiting Ghost crew destroyed it.

Stats by FreddyB, descriptive text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.