Description: Ansible Beelyard, also known by the nickname "The Holy Terror," was a comrade of Cody Sunn-Childe during their days as legendary and fierce fighters for the Rebellion.

But when Sunn-Childe created his City of Dreams he invited all of his colleagues to join him in living in his peaceful paradise, and they all lived together in their remote city, safely beyond the reach of the violent Galactic Civil War. However, a tear in the dimensional fabric allowed a fleet of Imperial Star Destroyers through to the dimension of the City of Dreams, and placed them all in danger. While Cody could have used his psychic power to defeat the Imperials and save himself and his friends, they all agreed that it would be better to die peacefully than to live violently, and all were destroyed with their city when the Star Destroyers opened fire upon them.
