Creatures D6 / Long-necked gundark

Name: Long-necked gundark
Homeworld: Kharzet III

Dexterity: 4D
Perception: 2D
Strength: 3D

Special Abilities

Bite: Long Necked Gundarks have sharp teeth and are capable of biting targets for Str+1D damage.

Long Sticky Tongue: Long Necked Gundarks have a sticky tongue which can reach up to 5 meters from them, if it strikes, it sticks to the target holding on with Str+2D. Long Necked Gundarks get a bonus 2D to bite targets held with their tongues, usually striking from hiding with their tongues then attacking the retrained prey.

Move: 15
Size: 2.5m long, 1m tall

Description: Long-necked gundarks were large, quadruped animals with long necks and long tongues which they would use to catch their prey. Princess Leia Organa and C-3PO encountered gundarks on Kharzet III, a jungle planet, while they were scouting for a location for the new Rebel base shortly after the Battle of Hoth.

Despite its name, the creature was not related to the true gundark. A young scientist named Kin Kimdyara gave the species its nickname due to its vicious temperament, rather than its physiology. However, he died before he could properly name this creature, so the name "long-necked gundark" stuck.
